In connection with the condition of the road past Oak Park and Gracefield cemeteries, John Ingman informs Pa. Ingman says that all property owners, except one, owned by the Home Owners Loan Corporation, approve of having the road paved. ### French Senatorial Election May Doom 'Popular Front'

By KENNETH T. DOWNS
(International News Service)
PARIS, Oct. 24.—In what even the leftist newspaper L'Ouvre was forced to admit was a "slight shift towards the center," senatorial elections of France today hammered home a death blow to the "popular front" government.

Major victor in the poll for nearly one-third of the senate seats was the conservative Republican-Democratic union of Louis Marin, which garnered 27 seats for a gain of nine. On the whole, the poll was a personal triumph for Premier Edouard Daladier, and for his stern financial and economic policies and for his stand at Munich.

His party, the radical Socialists, suffered the greatest senate losses of all, dropping six places to retain 41. Yet even this was a significant trend towards the right, for, as party headquarters announced, the senators who lost out were left extremists within the party. The radical Socialists remain the largest party in the senate.

While the balloting was done by electoral colleges of deputies, senators and local officials in each parliament, the voting represented a fair cross-section of French public opinion.

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Oct. 24.—President Roosevelt heads back to Washington today for a ten-day stay to tackle next year's budget estimates, happy over the prediction of WPA Administrator Harry Hopkins that relief expenditures definitely could be cut as a result of what appears to be a lasting business upturn.

The president was listening for the capital about 2 o'clock for a series of conferences with Acting Budget Director Daniel Bell—who had been warned in advance to "bring along his blue pencil."

Hopkins Departs.

Hopkins, a week-long guest at Hyde Park, left last night for Chicago, disclosing that private reports on the number of relief-rollers had convinced him the country "was over the worst of the hump." Last official figures were over 3,000,000, but the administrator said a decline would be shown two weeks hence.

To Rid Of 'Devil'

(International News Service)
HOUGHTON, Mich., Oct. 24.—A word tale of the slaying murder of Pretty Marion Doyle, 20-year-old housekeeper, by her employer, and his wife today was pieced together by police.

From a padded cell in the county jail here, Wilfred Pichette, 42, bubbling incoherently at times that he had the "power of God," bought from Gypsies for $1,000, told authorities he held the girl powerlessly on the floor of his kitchen while his wife beat her to death with a flatiron because Marion was "possessed of the devil."

Police said the Pichette's daughter, Norma, 7, helped her parents carry the dead body upstairs. The body, fully clothed, the head battered almost out of recognition, was found in Miss Doyle's room in the Pichette home by Sheriff John C. Salvi late last night after the couple had admitted the murder to him.

Despite the feverish effort of a special police squad, auto thieves and strippers stole a Plymouth sedan owned by Wayne Harper, from 213 East Grant street sometime after one a. m. today. The car carried Pennsylvania license M7314.

Chief of Police Ralph A. Criswell assigned a special detail to apprehend the thieves Saturday and acting upon a "tip," Policemen Peter Hillers and H. E. Richards, Saturday night, found the stolen auto at Jesse Toy, Edinboro, stolen here Thursday in Cascade street.

It was also reported by Chief Criswell that an automobile stolen from Warren, O., last Friday night, was recovered here Saturday and was identified as owned by Kenneth Arbogast of Warren. The car was driven here and abandoned in Ray street.

At present, there are two cars missing, that of Harper and one owned by Edward Smith, 2402 Highland avenue. The latter car was stolen from Monroe street last week ago, Friday. He parked the auto in Monroe street while he watched the football game.

(International News Service)
HUNTINGDON, Pa., Oct. 24.—Charged with involuntary manslaughter for the fatal test-gassing of Daniel Lamarr, 19, Philadelphia negro, John D. Pennington, superintendent of the Pennsylvania Industrial School here, goes on trial today.

Pennington has termed his arrest "a dishonorable act on the part of every person connected with the warrant." He was indicted last May 10 by a Huntingdon county grand jury and will be tried with out a jury before Judge John H. McCann, Cambria county.

Chief Justice John W. Kephart of the state supreme court, ordered Judge McCann to hear the case after Pennington requested a change of venue.

Pennington has insisted that he was not in the institution at the time of the gassing and knew nothing of the death. Asst. Supl. Samuel M. Washburn, he declared, who has since been discharged by Gov. George H. Earle, fired two lone gas shells into Lamarr's cell and ordered a guard to fire a third.

Washburn has pleaded guilty to the indictment returned against him. Sentence was upheld pending the outcome of the Pennington trial.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Organized labor today set up a chain of "labor police" offices to help enforce the wage-hour act which the government put into operation at 12:01 this morning.

Aware that the wage-hour administration has a staff of less than a hundred employees and is nearly broke, President William Green, of the American Federation of Labor, revealed he has established 500 of these offices, staffed with special committees attached to central labor bodies. Airport Foreman
Is Found Dead,
Wife Wounded

(International News Service)
SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 24.—Police were mystified today by a shooting in which Joseph W. Moore, 51, Harrisburg airport foreman, was found dead and his wife Ella, 50, was seriously wounded.

Responding to a call early this morning, police discovered the tragedy while Mrs. Moore, shot in the head, claimed that Moore shot her and then turned a .32 caliber revolver on himself. Moore had two bullet wounds in his body, police said.

Further questioning of Mrs. Moore, who has been given a fair chance of recovering, will be made, police said. She told contradictory stories, police said, about Moore's having "another woman in New Cumberland" and later asserting the quarrel culminated from Moore's refusal to take her back to Harrisburg with him.

Moore's daughter by a former marriage, Virginia Kressler, and Daniel Phillips were in the house at the time of the shooting and summoned police. Mrs. Moore was the slain man's second wife.

Three hundred persons, all active in the civic life of New Castle, will attend tonight's opening dinner rally of the 1938 Community Chest drive in the dining room of the First Christian church at 6:15 o'clock.

The dinner launches a campaign for $63,200, the "absolute minimum" needed to finance the operations of nine important welfare and character agencies here during the coming year.

Leaders and team workers will enjoy dinner and afterward listen to a prominent Youngstown welfare leader's speech and see two comedy skits which the New Castle Civic Theater Guild players will present.

Mrs. Johnson To Speak
Robert A. Eckles, president of the board of directors of the Chest, will open the meeting and then present Mrs. Grace Phillips Johnson, general chairman of this year's campaign, who will speak briefly to the workers.

Mrs. Johnson will introduce Numa F. Vidal Jr., vice chairman of the Chest, who will be in charge of the evening's program.

The original skits, "It Can Happen Here" and "Here's That Man Again," will graphically portray the inspirational side of the campaign and also give a practical demonstration for the workers benefit of the approach for contributions for the nine agencies in the drive.

The players will be in charge of Robert W. Turner, the guild's business manager.

Two State Probes Are In Recess

Principals Are Active However

House Committee Plans To Resume Hearings On Tuesday

BARD'S PETITION WILL BE ARGUED

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Oct. 24.—Pennsylvania's two legislative investigations—one of graft charges against Gov. George H. Earle and 13 Democratic leaders and the other into the dissemination of horse race track gambling information—were in recess today, but principals in both probes were not planning to rest. The Thompson joint legislative committee investigating horse race gambling in the state had a particularly stern task facing it—that of breaking down the injunction issued by the Dauphin county court preventing the summoning of M. L. Annenberg, Philadelphia publisher, to testify.

Committee counsel, headed by Counsel Lemuel B. Schofield, will argue the injunction before Dauphin county court judges, with Attorney General Guy K. Bard expected to take a hand in the proceedings.

Temporary Halt
The committee brought a temporary halt to its hearing on Friday pending the outcome of argument today. Annenberg is regarded as a "must" witness by the committee, so much so that Sen. Edward J. Thompson, D., Centre, chairman, has declared:

"The Annenbergs (Walter L. Annenberg, son of M. L. Annenberg, was included in the court order) do not dare face this investigation. The very fact that they ran into court to avoid testifying is conclusive proof that they are afraid to face a public scrutiny."

Meanwhile, the house committee, in recess since last Thursday, planned to resume hearings tomorrow with a continuation of testimony into alleged irregularities in the $65,000,000 general state authority building program. At the same time, tomorrow morning, Bard planned a last attempt to prevent Dauphin county Prosecutor Carl B. Shelly from assuming control of a grand jury investigation into the Earle administration.

Judge Paul N. Schaeffer, Berks county jurist, was to hear argument on Bard's petition asking that Shelly be prevented from conducting the grand jury probe.

LABOR WILL AID IN ENFORCEMENT WAGE-HOUR ACT

of enforcement of the new law. They will report violations and check constantly on operation of the act.

Concrete enforcement support from labor came as the statute—written to be a charter of emancipation from sweatshop hours and starvation wages—sent eleven million workers back to jobs directly affected by its provisions.

For all workers in interstate commerce the law, titled "Fair Labor Standards Act," guarantees minimum pay of 25 cents an hour for a maximum 44-hour week, with time-and-a-half pay for overtime. It prohibits employment of children under fourteen years of age in interstate commerce, and of children under sixteen except in certain specified occupations and within specified time limits.

Estimated Results
Wage-hour administrator Elmer F. Andrews estimated the act will immediately shorten the work week for 1,500,000 employees, and provide pay raises for 750,000, mostly in the south.

Andrews emphasized in a radio address that the law was written for the employer as well as the worker. He cautioned the worker against the necessary use of the provision permitting an employer to sue his boss for "violation of the act and win double the lost pay and court costs."

"No employer should bring suit. Simply in an effort to hamper or intimidate his employer," said Andrews. "The wage and hour division intends to use its full powers to guarantee fair treatment to both employer and employee."

Our greatest danger is the new theory that of us can't get justice without skinning the rest of us.

PRESIDENT HOPES RELIEF FUND CUT WILL BE POSSIBLE

Relief curve go down at an early date despite what some of our political enemies think."

Mr. Roosevelt already has stated the next fiscal year's budget would be in disarray because of the need for marked improvements in the navy and army as a guarantee of national defense. Aides accompanying him on his latest sojourn at the Hudson river family home were optimistic, however, that some of the coming deficit would be cut by reductions in WPA expenditures.

On Air Wednesday.

It was possible the president might develop the New Deal hope of a restored business confidence Wednesday night when he goes on the air in connection with a New York newspaper radio forum. Effectiveness of the new wage-hour law today, at which some employers are balking, was considered an added reason for a "confidence and prosperity" talk by the executive.

It was known that during his past week's stay at Hyde Park he has been formulating ideas and arguments for incorporation in Wednesday night talks.

Hopkins today, at Chicago, was conferring with Gov. Henry Horner, meeting with mid-western WPA officials and making a speech which may have some significance in the congressional campaign now hitting the home stretch.

Going To West Coast.
From Chicago, Hopkins will make a survey of WPA conditions clear to the west coast. He will stop at Salt Lake City, and also pause in several other key points before proceeding to San Francisco. Then, after a short visit with James Roosevelt, the president's eldest son and secretary, who is recovering from a serious stomach operation in Hollister, Calif., the New Deal relief director will return to Hyde Park to report to the president. Hopkins' report will come on the eve of another radio talk on the night of Nov. 4, which Mr. Roosevelt has scheduled in behalf of the New York Democratic ticket headed by Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, but which the White House has billed long in advance as the "of general interest" voters throughout the country.

Temporary Halt
The committee brought a temporary halt to its hearing on Friday pending the outcome of argument today. Annenberg is regarded as a "must" witness by the committee, so much so that Sen. Edward J. Thompson, D., Centre, chairman, has declared:

DANCE HALL IS BURNED SUNDAY

No. 1 truck from Central station went to the scene. By the time they arrived the structure was down to the ground, with the blaze communicating to the concession stands alongside. They succeeded in extinguishing the fire there, preventing further loss.

The destroyed building was a frame structure which faced the lake at the entrance to the park. Included in the loss was a new automobile, electrically operated Victoria and piano.

According to Mr. Rung, there had been a party in the dance hall Saturday night, and it is thought that someone dropped a cigarette butt into some paper which had accumulated during the course of the party.

The loss is a severe one to the resort owner, coming just on the heels of the disastrous flood last summer, when a cloudburst washed out the spillway below the dam. Work of repairing this damage is just being completed.

MISSING BOY IS BACK HOME

George O'Connell, the handyman, stepped off a Long Island train carrying the boy in his arms.

Waiting for him were police, a G-man and Mrs. Tripp.

"Dean and I were at the home of your friends the Ogdens, in Kew Gardens," O'Connell explained to the worried parents.

The handyman, a former U. S. marine, who has been living at the Tripp home for the past 18 months, was smiling when he got off the train. He had taken the boy into Manhattan Saturday to buy him a pair of shoes.

The smile left his face, however, when the G-man stepped up, grabbed the boy out of his arms and gave him to Mrs. Tripp, who burst into crying.

Chief of Police James Huntley took O'Connell into technical custody.

Chiang May Quit

Quo Tai-Chi, the Chinese ambassador here, declared there was no foundation for reports that Chiang Kai-Shek intended to resign. The ambassador also denied rumors that Wang Chung-Hui was going to Hong Kong to discuss with foreign envoys the possibility of mediating with Japan.

New U. S. Incident Avoided
Shanghai, Oct. 24.—In the midst of widespread Japanese triumphs today, an incident involving the United States was narrowly averted when Japanese authorities successfully prevented shipment of $4,500,000 in silver to America.

Although the light cruiser Augusta stood ready to escort the dollar liner President Coolidge to sea with her cargo of silver, officials of the line decided to unload the metal rather than risk further expensive delay.

Grave fears were felt on all sides, however, that a fresh "Pompey incident," this time involving the British river gunboat Sandpiper, would be less easily settled.

Six heavy Japanese bombers peppered the water around the Sandpiper, spraying her decks with shrapnel, and scored at least one direct hit. The 185-ton river boat's superstructure was badly damaged, but no one was hurt.

The bombing occurred near Changsha, capital of Hunan province, 200 miles south of Hankow, where the Sandpiper was on patrol duty.

British authorities, expressing their belief that the bombing was intentional, protested vigorously. On the other hand, Japanese sources said the planes were attempting to bomb Chinese junk ships filled with troops when the gunboat was hit.

A capable speaker, Fleming is noted for his knowledge of the welfare situation.

Chest leaders declared today that all indications point to a successful campaign this year. The Advanced Gifts solicitation they say, has been "unusually good."

In a pre-opening message to New Castle residents this afternoon, Mrs. Johnson, the drive's general chairman, pointed out the important fact that in the budgets apportioned this year to the nine agencies of the Chest, each one had been added by public accountants from the books of the agency made available by the agency officials, and an absolute minimum amount determined under which the agencies would be able to carry on their work.

Mrs. Johnson also pointed out in the talk that there are no paid workers, other than office help, in the campaign. There is no director, no one who would receive a percentage of the total contributions. In fact the only deductions to be made from the money received will be for actual advertising, office help and supplies.

DISTRICT LEGION OFFICERS GATHER

opened at ten o'clock in the theatre and save for a recess for lunch continued through until after five o'clock.

State Commander
State Commander Frank Gwynn made his first official appearance at the meeting. "The service man of 1917 and 1918 is needed just as much now as he was then," said Commander Gwynn. "The country we fought for as soldiers needs our services as peace time citizens today more than it ever has before."

"As Legionnaires we are proud of our participation in the World War. But as Legionnaires we must continue to fight for this country, to protect it against the subversive influences that would destroy it, to assist in training the youth of today, and to see to it that our buddies who were disabled as the result of the war are given proper attention."

Disabled Veterans Work
Service Officer Faust of the Aspinwall Veterans Hospital was introduced and spoke of his work among the disabled veterans. "Aspinwall Hospital has 505 beds," said he, "but there are always more men in the hospital than the bed accommodations show. We have a waiting list but within the next fifteen months we expect to have a wing completed that will add many beds to the capacity. As your service officer I am on the job every day ready to work out the problems of the posts."

Other Speakers
Others who spoke were Auxiliary state commander Mrs. Helen Casey, of Philadelphia, Dr. W. D. Syrock, of Erie, Dr. H. R. Galbreath of Altoona and W. C. Grimm, of Pittsburgh.

The meeting was one of a number at which Commander Gwynn has attended. It is his idea that in the coming year the American Legion shall enlarge its scope of influence and become an even greater force in the community life of the state.

In this ambition he is joined by western vice Commander Guy J. Wadlinger. A similar meeting was held in Greensburg on Saturday at which Wadlinger and Gwynn attended. At the meeting Sunday Western district adjutant Norman F. Nelson, who is also deputy vice commander for Lawrence County, served.

The Report Theatre was turned over for the Sunday meeting as a courtesy of Legionnaire Speer Marousis.

To take away that faded look from boys' flannel suits, dissolve a little powdered bluing in boiling water and add this to the soapy water in which they are washed. They will come out really fresh and new looking.

Prepare For Big Drive Along Ebro River Front, Report

(International News Service)
BARCELONA, Oct. 24.—Action on the Ebro river front of Catalonia today indicated that both sides are preparing for major offensives. Small bands have been especially active, bringing in prisoners for quizzing, and feeling out the enemy's strength. Generalissimo Francisco Franco, it is understood, has arrived at the front personally to direct the insurgents' campaign.

On the Estremadura front of southwestern Spain, said a government communique, "several surprise attacks by the insurgents in the Tolly school educations, and six had never attended school."

FAITH

Thirty-seven years ago not one family in a hundred owned a horse and buggy, but today three out of four have cars. Two families had a telephone where there are 15 now. Less than one-half million homes had electricity. Today 21,000,000 homes are wired. They never thought of having a funeral at a funeral home at that time. Now about 30% of the funerals in the country are held at funeral homes, and each year there will be more funerals held from funeral homes.

In some of the western cities they will not hold a funeral at the residence; they are all held in funeral homes. So we wish to say that it is no disrespect to one's loved ones to hold the funeral services from a funeral home.

EMMINGER-ZEIGLER CEREMONY IS QUIET

Quietly performed, was the wedding ceremony yesterday afternoon, October 23, which took place in the study of the First Christian church when Miss Edna O. Emminger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Emminger of North Mercer street, became the bride of Almon W. Zeigler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Zeigler of 18 West Moody avenue.

Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor, officiated in the presence of the immediate families of the couple, the vows being exchanged at 2 o'clock. The single ring service was used.

The bride was attired in a smoked blue crepe dress, made street length, silhouette front, with two garnet clips at the square neckline, and she wore a necklace to match. The shoulder bouquet was of African lilies, and a small quail style with plumes, was of black and other accessories were also black.

Miss Eleanor Burnside, who was maid of honor and only attendant, chose a teal blue suit made along tuxedo lines, trimmed in black lynx. Her accessories were black, and a shoulder corsage of baby mums, fading from bright yellow into deep bronze, completed the ensemble.

Kenneth J. Parshall served the groom as best man. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Emminger wore a daintier crepe dress with a shoulder bouquet to harmonize. Her accessories too, were black.

A wedding dinner was served afterwards, and immediately following, Mr. and Mrs. Zeigler departed on a motor trip to Tennessee and other Southern points. For traveling, the bride selected an English tweed in shades of brown, and accompaniments in luggage tan. Her hat was of a rolled pancake style, in brown felt.

Mrs. Zeigler has been affiliated in the Sales Department of the Pennsylvania Power Company for the past several years, as saleslady. Mr. Zeigler is connected with the same department, as salesman. Upon their return in one week, they will take up residence in their newly furnished apartment at 324 East Moody avenue.

RECENT BRIDE GIVEN SURPRISE SHOWER

The honoree was presented with many lovely and useful gifts. Guests were present from Uniontown and Allegheny.

SUPPORT COMMUNITY CHEST DRIVE

TONIGHT, a large number of New Castle citizens, volunteering their time and efforts, will inaugurate the annual Community Chest campaign for the city.

They will seek to secure $63,200 to provide for the operation of nine public serving agencies in the city, and they should be enabled to speedily reach the goal that has been set. Provided, the public response is what it should be.

The chest leaders have analyzed the entire situation for all of the agencies included this year, and the goal set is the minimum that should be raised to provide for efficient operation of the institutions and organizations included.

This campaign is not one that is solely the responsibility of those taking part in the drive. It is the responsibility of all of us in the city, and many in the county should be glad to aid.
Use of the hospitals in New Castle is not limited to New Castle citizens. Probably there are as many patients from outside the city, in the institutions during the year, as from the city.

The sum set as a goal is not large for a community of this size.

With proper support of the bulk of local citizens it should be successfully reached.

Do your part!

SHORT WORDS FOR CLARITY

"Short words are words of might," writes Gelett Burgess in Your Life magazine, in a plea of 1,800 one-syllable words for the wider use of more succinct speech.

"Long words are apt to hide or blur what one thinks but short words say just what you mean and do not leave you in doubt. They are clear and sharp, like signs cut on a rock.

"If you would like to say things with force, it is well first to learn to use short words as much as you can. It will make your style crisp and give it zest when you talk.

"Short words come from deep down in our hearts, not from the brain. They deal with the things that move and sway us, that make us act. They are said with no thought of their use. They come to our lips like smiles or scowls.

"Short words, like bright stones, do not wear out."

AND AFTER THE DICTATORS, WHAT?

Unhappily for Mustapha Kemal Ataturk, dictator of Turkey, the ravages of disease cannot be arrested through the simple expedient of suppressing news of illness.

For some time the knowledge that Mustapha Kemal was a sick man has existed in Europe. In Turkey the subject was never mentioned. A newspaper of Istanbul, whose editor was so indiscreet as to publish a few lines to the effect that a physician had been summoned to the palace of the dictator, was driven out of business.

But now it is no longer possible to withhold from the public the news that Mustapha Kemal Ataturk, one of the strong men thrown to the surface of human affairs by the social upheaval consequent upon the World War, is gravely ill.

In his affliction there is inspiration for reelection.

Dictators, we are reminded, are mortal. Their life-span is no more certain than that of one of their victims in a concentration camp.
After the dictators, what?

BROUGHT OUT INTO THE OPEN

Action of a Federal grand jury in returning 73 indictments against prominent New Mexico officials for alleged violations of the law in connection with WPA activities means that charges of a type being made in other parts of the country have been brought out in the open where they can be fully analyzed on an evidential basis.

It is a gratifying turn of events—quite as gratifying for honest relief officials as for the general public. When suspicions and rumors are allowed to circulate without let or hindrance, the innocent are bound to suffer along with the guilty.

The grand jury in New Mexico has charged that "many persons seeking personal and political gains have violated legal and moral codes" and that "the selfish aims and ambitions of individuals entrusted with the administration of the WPA" are literally amazing.

Such criticisms, it will be noted, are strikingly similar to those currently directed at the setup in other States. For them to be faced frankly and brought before a trial court for actual adjudication is for the whole difficult matter to be subjected to the disinterested consideration merited under all the circumstances.

The WPA, by and large, is costing American taxpayers vast sums of money. This being the case, every possible assurance should be given that the emergency program is not being exploited for sordid political purposes. That the outcome of the New Mexico proceedings may be instrumental in providing such assurance and in driving to cover the partisan utilities of economic distress will be the earnest hope of every citizen with a sound conception of public responsibility.

PORTRAIT OF THE NATION

The small town would be thoroughly black and blue if all the "slicers" wisecracks of the last few decades had been punches. Suddenly treatment of an entirely different nature is given in a descriptive newspaper article published in the Big Town.

The article is long, but in a nutshell what it has to say about the small town is this:

"The small town man is an individualist who 'believes in the virtue of work and thrift and honest dealing.' He speaks his mind with bluntness and keeps his eye sharply peeled on local civic affairs. He will not tolerate graft. He takes a pride in living within his means and making the local government do the same thing. He believes that an American's first concern should be the affairs of his own country. His life is 'largely a matter of making an honest living . . . educating his children so that they can do better in life than their parents have done . . . living in peace and harmony . . . and finding pleasure in the simpler things of life.'"

The observation is made that no other American group is more typical of the nation than the small-town. In that case, the nation should do all right.

If this isn't going to be a hard winter, why are they putting that snowplow effect on the new autos?

The Parent
Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

WHEN TO VACCINATE AND IMMUNIZE

Here are answers to more questions about the baby, which you may not will answer your own problems.

Q. When should a baby be vaccinated against smallpox?

A. Before he is six months old, or when your doctor advises it.

Q. When should he be immunized against diphtheria?

A. Between the age of six and nine months, or as advised by your doctor. To wait until the child enters school is hazardous, since in the pre-school years the child is very susceptible to this dread disease.

Q. What of the notion by some people that the child should have measles, whooping cough and other common children's diseases early so he won't "get them so hard"?

A. Wholly unfounded by facts. On the contrary, the earlier the child contracts these diseases, as a rule, the more likely he is to die from them or suffer ill effects in later years.

Q. Should mother kiss baby?

A. Not on the mouth or fingers (which go into his mouth). Let her kiss him on the forehead or nape of the neck. To kiss him will do her good and won't hurt him. Besides, babies need more affection, not less.

Q. What should guide us in choosing clothes for the runabout?

A. Ask yourself such questions as these: Are they so constructed as to encourage the child in self-reliance to help himself as much as possible with dressing, undressing and toileting? Are they warm enough for adequate protection, but not too stiff or bulky for free exercise? If summer clothes, do they afford exposure to the sun? Are they large enough to be comfortable? Do they permit free movement and allow for growth? Are they easy to launder successfully?
Are they simple yet attractive thru color, textile design and some ornamentation?

What To Look For?

Q. What are some good things to look for in choosing the runabout's clothes?

A. Zippers, large, slippery buttons, front fastenings, raglan sleeves, generous underlay, generous hems, marks indicating front of garment, easily-managed dropped seats or ports with wide, soft elastic, large front hangers on straps, and at least one ample pocket.

Q. Are finger plays desirable for babies?

A. Yes. Here let me quote from my foreword to the very recent book:

"Properly used, finger plays and action rhymes are psychologically sound and educationally valuable.
They appeal strongly to the infant's early sense of rhythm, afford him and his mother opportunity for wholesome fun together, furnish him with an excellent background for speech. Best of all they help to cultivate in him an early and lasting love of books."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

A LINGUIST

At the Munich Conference, composed of representatives of the four great European Powers—England, France, Germany and Italy—an amazing fact was brought to my attention in a little paragraph in a newspaperman's report of what happened.

It seems that Mussolini was the only representative who was unable of speaking and understanding the native language of the three other conferers; in other words, Mussolini was the only one present who could not only understand, but speak English, French, German and Italian. I thought that certainly Neville Chamberlain, schooled as he had been in the service of the British Empire, would have been able to do this, but it seems that Mr. Chamberlain, outside of his English, can only carry on—and that a little hesitantly—a conversation in French.

Foreign Diplomats, particularly English Diplomats, are believed to have been trained to speak the language of every civilized Nation. As you may see, they are sent as Secretaries and assistants to foreign legations—perhaps to Germany, then to France, then to Italy, then to Spain, to Russia, Japan and so on. Li Hung Chang, the great Chinese statesman of the old Chinese Dynasty was so finely educated that there was no civilized language in which he could not carry on a conversation.

There in Munich was a man representing Italy whose father was a blacksmith and whose mother was an Italian school teacher. It must have been due to the efforts of his mother that Mussolini acquired himself with the languages of Europe.

Generally, the greatness of a man is determined by the sort of a mother that man had.

a few days ago. A group picture of the delegates was taken and he did

He has not been married very long.

The woman's club at Emporium,

German Tricks Are Exposed
Diplomat Tells Of Subterfuges
Says Don't Believe All You HearBy CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Columnist.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 24—

Holding one of Uncle Sam's official positions in Germany, the individual

I'm about to quote can't be designated by name; it would make him trouble. He knows the Fatherland intimately. He knows me well, too; consequently talked freely. "If you're a foreign visitor in any big German city," he said, "probably you stop at one of its leading hotels. Do you find any scarcity of anything in its dining room—particularly a scarcity of dairy supplies—which Naziland is supposed to be especially short of?
You do not. There's a great plenty.

Returning home, you report that stories of a semi-famine in the Hitler realm are all lies; you've been there and could get all of everything you wanted.

"But the German housewife can't;
she's strictly rationed.

"That's one of Adolf's ways of fooling the rest of the world."

"Where I live in Germany," my acquaintance proceeded, "an international gathering of considerable consequence was held. Delegates from many countries were in attendance. They were there for about a week. During that week their various home-country newspapers were

It was entirely harmless, even from

IT REACHES AROUND THE WORLD

but it's part of your own home town

ALMOST anyone you know, anywhere in the world, is within reach of your telephone voice. Telephone service is state-wide, nationwide, world-wide.

Yet your telephone service is largely a home-town service. Most of the calls you make are to people nearby. And most of the telephone people who serve you live and work in your own home town. Some of them are your friends and neighbors.

This company must be big to serve 1,220,000 Pennsylvania telephones. The Bell System must be big to serve the entire nation. Big because its job is big. But when you make the system apart, you find that it is simply a large number of home-town people, working together to give all the people the finest telephone service in the world at the lowest possible cost.

Is your home or office equipped to take full advantage of modern telephone service? An extension telephone saves time and steps; affords extra protection, privacy and convenience. You can have another telephone in your bedroom or kitchen for surprisingly little! Ask the Business Office or any telephone employee for further information.

George Washington Junior High School To Be Scene Of Events October 29

RULES FOR MEET ANNOUNCED TODAY

There will be 10 different events, designed to show the abilities and knowledge of scout work of each of the scouts, and to disclose the best groups of scouts.

According to Karl F. Green, scout executive, the following 10 events have been selected for the field meet:

Tent pitching, fire by flint and steel, semaphore signalling, fireman's carry relay, open individual knot tying contest, waterboiling contest, international Morse signalling, fire by friction, and a chariot race.

All of the events have been based on actual scout work, things taught to a boy while he is a registered Boy Scout. All events will take place on the Washington school athletic field.

General rules for the meet were announced today as follows by Executive Green:

1. Events are open to all active registered scouts in the council, who have not reached their 18th birthday on or before the day of the meet.

3. Not more than two entries will be accepted in each event from any one troop. The highest scoring entry from any troop will be the only one to determine the placement for that event.

4. No scout may enter more than two events, except Patrol events.

5. All scout officials not judging, are to keep off the field. Coaching during events is prohibited.

6. In case of violation of General Requirement 5, judges may disqualify entry from that troop in that event.

SCOTTIE

Known variously in early Scottish history as Skye terrier, Highland, Cairn, and Scots terrier, although that dog bore no resemblance to Skyes and Cairns of today. Nicknamed the "die-hard" for stout heart and unquenchable love for sport. Extremely independent.

HE'S GIVING HIS NERVES A REST...

AND SO IS HE

LIKE humans, dogs have a complicated set of nerves. But dogs are kinder to their nerves than we. They rest when they need rest... while we plunge ahead with our hurry and worry—straining our nerves to keep up with the fast pace. We can't turn back to the natural paces of life like an animal, but we can protect, soothe, and calm our nerves. Smoking a Camel can be your pleasant method for breaking nerve tension. Camels are mild, with the flavor of a matchless blend of costlier tobaccos. Smokers find Camel's mild tobacco deliciously soothing—soothing—to the nerves.

SUCCESSFUL PEOPLE ADVISE

"Let up—light up a Camel"

DID YOU KNOW?

—that tobacco plants are "topped" when they put out their seed-head? That this improves the quality of leaf tobacco? That most cigarette tobacco is harvested by "priming"—removing each leaf by hand? Camel buyers know where choice grades of tobacco are—those that cure nicely—the mild, ripe, fragrant tobaccos. Camels are a matchless blend of finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS... Turkish and Domestic.

"HOUSEWORK, shopping, and social affairs," says busy Mrs. V. G. Weaver, "would get me strained and tense if I didn't rest my nerves every now and then. I let up and light up a Camel frequently. Camels are so soothing."

Hunting license applicants came into the county treasurer's office so fast Saturday, that they had to stand in line to get their licenses. It is likely, that the same condition will prevail all this week, as it is getting near the opening of the small game season.

County Commissioners have awarded the Crown Equipment Company of this city, the contract for the manufacture and installation of a high pressure water tank at the county home, the Crown bid, $715 being the lowest of three offered. The tank will hold nearly 400 gallons and is to be used for emergency purposes in case something goes wrong with the tank now in use.

Judge Thomas W. Dickey has handed down an opinion in the case of the Universal Sales Company against C. W. Gardner in which there was a sheriff's interpleader. After the sheriff had levied on goods and livestock of Gardner, it was claimed by his son, George Owen Gardner. Judge Dickey directs that an issue be framed and that the case be tried in court to determine the ownership.

The commonwealth of Pennsylvania, use of Kenneth E. Dufford of Shenango township, has filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against Elizabeth M. Totten, executrix of Robert J. Totten, late of New Wilmington and E. D. McFarland, surrogates for the late H. T. Getty of New Wilmington, to recover on a bond. The statement of claim sets forth that in May, 1928, Getty was appointed guardian for Kenneth E. Dufford, son of William F. Dufford, deceased. While acting as guardian Getty sold some property in which his ward was interested to the extent of $2400. Totten and McFarland went on Getty's bond to secure the money in his hands. It is claimed that Getty later became insolvent, and the present action is to recover $2,390 from the bondsmen.

Since the delinquent tax abatement bill was passed by the legislature, the county treasurer's office is receiving many requests for statements by delinquents. Some of the building and loan associations and banks have lists which will take considerable time to check up, and as the time is short during which the abatements may be secured, they want to help the treasurer's office out by getting their lists in early. On closer study of the act it has been found that it will be necessary to have 1938 taxes paid in order to take advantage of its provisions. Both interest and penalties are re-bated back to 1934, and penalties only on 1935-36 and '37.

Will of the late F. B. Mayne of Shenango township has been admitted to probate by Register and Recorder, Orville Potter. Decedent divides his estate into four parts. One is to go to a niece, Mrs. Lena Deviney Hathem, a second to a niece, Mrs. Grace Hostler Stetzel, a third to a niece, Miss Glendia Aiken, and a fourth is to be divided equally between a niece, Miss Sarah Jane Mayne and a nephew, Elmer Mayne. Attorney William J. Caldwell is named as executor.

Bessemer Girl Pens Winning Chest Essay In County Group

Editor's Note: This is the second of a series of five winning Community Chest essays written by New Castle and Lawrence county school students.

"What the Community Chest Does for Children in New Castle and Its Surrounding Territory."

By BRITT SWANSON
County Contest Winner.

The Community Chest. How much those three words imply. They stand for alleviation of human suffering, for promotion of civic interests, good fellowship, moral principles and for more abundant lives. Just the mention of this organization brings thoughts of kind deeds, charitable spirits and sympathy for the unfortunate. It also brings with it the thought of civic pride.

This worthy organization helps humans of all ages. As pupils, however, we are interested most in what is being done to help the children in New Castle and surrounding territory.

There are many sick children, but is anything being done to help them? Decidedly, yes. Through the Jameson Memorial and New Castle hospitals, the Community Chest gives many children medical care that they would otherwise never get. As a result many children have regained their health. All the money in the United States couldn't replace the medical care given by the Chest to one poor child who is ill.

Through the Young Men's Christian Association, the Young Women's Christian Association, the Girl Scouts and the Boy Scouts, the Chest acts on the principle that the children of today will be the citizens of tomorrow. It guides youth.

No less active are the City Rescue Mission and the Salvation Army, through the Chest, in supplying food and clothing to those in need.

Perhaps the most outstanding agency, as far as children are concerned is the Margaret Henry children's home. When we learn that 48 boys and girls are being cared for here, certainly we want to help support it.

After having surveyed the work of the Community Chest, how can we help but give it our most loyal support? Let's do our part and in going to remember the Golden Rule—do unto others as you would have others do unto you.

P. S.—Miss Swanson is 18 years of age and a senior of Bessemer high school.

nated. Among others, he asked his son, "What's your guess?" "Why," said his son, "I gave the tip. As a Nazi (a regularly enrolled member of the organization) I'm pledged to give notice to the police of ANY meeting—innocent or otherwise."

"Does this," I asked, "apply to social gatherings?"

"Oh," said my friend, "you might give a dance and get away with it."

"And doesn't it," I queried, "become extremely tiresome?"

"You get used to it," he answered. "How Adolf is protected."

"It surprises me," I observed, "that somebody doesn't bump Hitler off."

"For one thing," my acquaintance replied, "he's extraordinarily well guarded."

"But suppose he were driving along the street in front of a big apartment house. And suppose a shot were fired from one of that house's windows. Suppose it hit Hitler and killed him. And suppose the police couldn't determine from which window that shot was fired. Then, undoubtedly, everyone in that apartment house would be executed. "Besides, a massacre of all Jews in Germany would be sure to follow. Furthermore, Hitler has deputies who are worse than he is. One of them would be certain to supplant him."

"It's enough to make any one would-be assassin stop and consider."

Motor Club Head Asks Sane Pranks

Deplores Damage Of Property By Hallowe'en "Fun" Makers

In a statement today Alec Samuels, president of the New Castle Motor club, scores the practice of damaging property under the guise of Hallowe'en fun and asks parents to cooperate towards the end that Hallowe'en may be a clean fun occasion. His statement follows:

"Along with the Fourth of July, Hallowe'en activities have been tampered and tamed, but there remains much taming to do. Marking windows with chalk or soap, ringing door bells, while not condoned, are at least temporary annoyances and can be forgotten or remedied, but marking up the body of an automobile, deflating tires, and in some instances cutting the tire rims, is far removed from fun. Quoting from one of our members whose car had to be refinished after some 'fun' at first.

loving' boys had worked on it, it is a pretty low sort of prank." We agree.

"A little emphasis by fathers and mothers on the respect due other people's property might do some good. Parents, even in this day, do have a certain amount of influence over their offspring and a little propaganda in this direction is not too much to ask. Police, of course, are on the lookout for unscrupulous youngsters who damage property but as they usually travel in gangs and are pretty good turners it is not always possible to apprehend them.

"There is plenty of fun to be had on the night the ghosts walk but it need not be at the expense of the other fellow. Ask your children to remember this—don't wait until the damage is brought to your door before taking action."

ACCIDENT VICTIM LEAVES HOSPITAL

John Bartlebaugh, of County Line street, who suffered injuries when pinned against a wall by a truck at the Lawrence Ice Plant last week, has recovered sufficiently to return to his home. His injuries proved of a lesser nature than was thought at first.

ABOUT THOUSAND GATHER FOR EVENT

Sons of Italy members commemorated the 16th anniversary of Loggia Trionfo Italiano, No. 1171, with impressive exercises held in The Arena, Grove street, Saturday. Approximately 1,000 persons shared the program.

Saturday afternoon a class of 90 new members was initiated. ## His Ankles Would Swell to Double Their Natural Size

This leading citizen describes his suffering and tells how Vendol gave marvelous relief, after other things failed.

MR. JAMES H. GANDEE

which did more good than anything I ever took."

Vendol is made from Nature's Roots and Herbs mixed with valuable laxative bringing out awful gases and impurities that may have been causing headaches, bad taste, dizziness, spots before the eyes, tired, worn-out feeling and nervousness. It relieves many troubles due to constipation and inactive kidneys. If you need a good, safe, reliable medicine, get Vendol without delay from your nearest druggist. It is highly recommended here by New Castle Druggist, Eckerd's and People's.

"I read in the paper one day where a friend of mine, living here in town, described how Vendol helped him, so I decided to try it and it has given me more relief than any medicine I ever tried," said Mr. James H. Gandee.

"Strange to say, my stomach never bothered me much but my bowels, liver, and kidneys surely kept me in misery. Pains like rheumatism centered in the joints of my shoulders, my ankles sometimes would swell up to double their natural size, and I had terrible pains across the small of my back. At times I'd feel awfully dizzy and sluggish and my head would ache so that I couldn't sleep well."

"Vendol gave the most satisfying relief from constipation and acted as a mild diuretic to my kidneys, then the pains in my joints and swelling in my ankles just passed off and never bother me now. I have a good appetite, enjoy sleep, restful sleep and just feel grand all the time. I am glad to recommend such a fine medicine as Vendol."

In the Simpson M. E. church on Atlantic avenue. Those desiring transportation will meet at the Y. W. C. A. on the diamond at 7:15 p. m. Olga Nahas will be the leader.

them have been recovered. However, three of them were stripped of wheels, tires, heaters and other accessories. They were stripped in Gaston park, Washington field and the Frew Mill road.

Toy's auto was found by police through a "tip" provided by an East Side businessman. He saw three youth near his place. They fled. When police arrived they found a can and hose. In Cascade street they found the Toy auto which was taken to the city police garage.

It is believed by the police chief that the auto thieves and strippers

Lock All Cars! Criswell Says

Chief of Police Ralph A. Criswell today advised the auto-going public to lock automobiles.

"This will go a long way toward stopping thefts," the police chief declared.

"If you see suspicious youths or men tampering with cars don't wait; call No. 8 immediately. Police will do the rest."

"Should you park your auto in a dark spot, take time out now and then from what you are doing to see if it is there."

"Many times the police do not know a car has been stolen until hours later which affords police little chance for capture."

"The thefts during the past week or more are only a recurrence of what has happened in the past."

"However, as in the past, the police will win out," he said.

may be part of a gang which has been entering garages. Last night, he reports, the garage of Robert Rumble, 539 Harbor street, was entered. A spare wheel and tire from his auto were stolen.

Will Be No Police Let-up Chief Criswell said today that throughout Saturday night, Sunday and Sunday night police in cruiser cars patrolled different sections of the city, bent on apprehending the thieves. Orders have been given to not use silk glove tactics in making captures.

It was recalled that about a year ago the city was perturbed by the theft of automobiles. Police and detectives rounded up the gang, according to the chief. He said today police have suspicions as to who may be committing present thefts but have been unable to catch them at work.

The chief made it plain that there will be no let-up on the part of the police until the thieves and strippers are under arrest. In fact, the chief said that the officers themselves have taken as an affront, the delay hurled early today when thieves stole Harper's Plymouth coach.

All of the police cruisers were placed in operation Saturday night. Others were given order to follow down the minutest clue. Places seldom visited on the outskirts by city police were combed often during the 72 hours period.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1938, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

One of my first fears in starting this column was that people would regard it as a substitute for their own doctor.

People often write me for advice, usually adopting the attitude that I must have some special knowledge because of my connection with the Quintuplets. I want to make it plain here and now that my medical knowledge is no greater or less than thousands of country practitioners who daily attend your sick room and minister to your needs.

In this column it is my hope to strengthen your faith and your dependence on your family physician. He is the one you should turn to in sickness. Or better still, he is the one who can prevent your illness—if you give him a chance.

I have said "family physician," and I mean it. The doctor who has had your family for a generation or two is, or should be, better qualified than anyone else to know your physical weaknesses.

One thing to remember when the doctor visits your sick child, not to let your prejudices hinder his work. Your grandmother may have told you of marvelous cures with simple medicines, but just forget about them. Let him apply his best scientific knowledge and training to the case.

I know something of these prejudices regarding sickness and cures because every time the Quintuplets take ill, letters pour in from almost every country telling me of charms and potions that will cure them of anything. Do you think for a moment that if those five Dionne girls were born, I had listened to the various methods for keeping them alive they would have been here today? No, I took them and surrounded them with the best scientific care I could give them.

People have been known to condemn a first-class physician because they didn't like his bedside manner. I have seen them resort to the same remedies grandma relied upon when the patient was a bit slow in responding to the doctor's treatment.

Don't expect your doctor to make an instantaneous diagnosis of an illness. No doctor with a high reputation ever gained it in that way. The reliable doctor observes carefully before he commits himself. Often I find the Quintuplets suffering a slight ailment. If it is some obvious complaint, then the diagnosis is simple, but very often it is a couple of days before I am absolutely sure in my own mind what is the matter.

Last but not least, when you call the doctor and he comes and brings relief to you or to members of your family, see that he gets paid. If the laborer is worthy of his hire then surely the doctor is. The physician is so important when you are sick, and so unnecessary when you are well—and his bill never comes in until you are well.

When the Devil is sick, the Devil a saint would be.

When the Devil is well, the Devil a saint was he."

Reflections

By J. K.

Shall women look quaint, neat and dignified this winter with curls piled high, or shall they cling to the long bob and neck curls which lend a youthful appearance and are easy to take care of? That's the question.

Women differ on the "new up-sweep" hair, it would seem from conversations around the New Castle bridge tables. Then, to make things more complicated, Grata Garbo comes back from Sweden with straight locks and bangs!

All the time it is something or other, all the time it is. We women have been threading needles all summer in a mad scurry to take up hair and now that we have everything shortened, but our last year's coiffure, there is this new hair problem to throw us into conniptions.

What do the men think of the up-sweep? After the way they carried on about the red finger nails most of the women aren't asking their opinions any more about things that aren't any of their business anyway, but this writer put the question to one of the burly reporters in the office just out of curiosity.

"You know what a witch's broom looks like," he answered. "Well every time I see a woman with her hair brushed up from her neck I am reminded of a witch's broom upside down."

After thinking that over, it sounds more and more uncomplimentary. Downright nasty. But what does a man know about these things? They objected to our smart little hats too, you know, and we are still wearing them.

But the women themselves, what do they think of the new hair? Their opinions are varied, but not violent. They agree that there is something regal in the up-sweep, that it gives height to the too-shorts and is delightfully different. But on the other hand, the long bobs are comfortable, especially in winter, and easy to cur. A comb through. You don't have to sleep on a block and you don't have to run to the powder room between each dance to see if the curls are still on top or fallen behind your ear.

And what about the rolled hair style which was so popular the summer through? Is it out? Not entirely, one of the local beauty operators says, which is good news for a lot of us. I would be glady for the fashion to disappear that quick, just as we learned to roll our own.

Begin Last Two Weeks Of Campaign In Pennsylvania

Both Parties In Wind-Up Tours

Democrats Send Kennedy On Tour Of Western Pennsylvania

JAMES AND G. O. P. IN EASTERN AREA

By J. WILLIAM THEIS
International News Service Staff Correspondent
HARRISBURG, Oct. 24.—Campaign pressure climbed today as, on two significant fronts, Democratic and Republican leaders began a non-stop drive toward election day, two weeks from tomorrow.

The Democrats sent Lieut.-Gov. Thomas Kennedy, unsuccessful primary candidate for the gubernatorial nomination and United Mine Workers officer, into western Pennsylvania on a hectic stump tour. His ostensible mission in the bituminous coal counties was to hold the labor vote he won last May for the Democratic organization ticket headed by Charles Alvin Jones, candidate for governor. He will swing through the anthracite belt later. The mine leader's speaking debut in this campaign was seen here as the Democratic antidote to outbreaks of resentment among Kennedy-Guffey followers who have declared for the Republican ticket.

Republicans in East. All four Republican candidates, led by Superior Court Judge Arthur H. James, the gubernatorial nominee, moved today into Philadelphia, their traditional stronghold. The Republican Women's Luncheon club of southeastern Pennsylvania, representing Berks, Bucks, Chester, Delaware, Lehigh, Montgomery and Philadelphia counties, was their host.

James backers hope their strength in Philadelphia will be more than enough to offset Democratic power in Allegheny county, the other pivotal center of the urban areas. Governor Earle, with Thomas A. Logue, candidate for re-election as internal affairs secretary, begin the week with a rally in Erie today, followed by a tour of the county. Tomorrow the campaign will be carried into Venango, Beaver and Lawrence counties, with Jones and Mundy touring Crawford and Mercer counties.

On Wednesday, Earle and Logue appeal to the voters of Fayette and Somerset counties, with Jones and Mundy drifting back into Allegheny county.

After campaigning in Philadelphia Thursday and Friday, the four Democratic candidates will move into Luzerne county and a tour through the "home grounds" of Judge James, speaking at rallies in Wilkes-Barre, Pittston and Nanticoke, neighboring communities of James' Plymouth.

Blue Heron Shot At Gaston Park

When bird life is so scarce, a person enjoys travelling through the woods and the out-of-doors places, and the trip becomes very interesting, seeing bits of wild life here and there.

As a rule, the habitat of the blue heron is around marshes where there is a body of water, because of the natural food conditions that exist there, which provide it with a livelihood.

A few days ago in Gaston Park, one of these birds was found by Owen Fox, but not in the beauty of life, but in the form of death.

This beautiful bird had come to an untimely end from the hands of a person carrying a rifle. It had been shot through the heart, and its body thrown under the old stone bridge.

The wanton killing of this bird by a person, probably ignorant of what he was shooting at, lessened the ranks of this now almost extinct graceful flyer.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Why a stye in the eye? Styes occur most frequently during adolescence.

It is an inflammation of sebaceous glands of the eyelid.

It may be caused by one of various factors.

Rubbing infectious material from fingers into eyelid.

Faulty diet, constipation, general debility.

Errors of refraction, eyelash dye.

The stye is heralded by a slight pain and heaviness of the lid.

This is followed by localization of this small boil.

As one stye subsides another may occur.

"Rubbing it with an old gold ring" will not cure a stye.

Sometimes a slight surgical procedure may be required.

Don't peel potatoes to be used in salad until you have cooked and cooled them. Then dice or cut into thin slices, using a sharp knife.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1938 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Mayor Ralph C. Mitchell of Independence, Kansas, brings his crocheting to New York and is found by the reporters running off a rose and poppy pattern for a bedspread. He says Harry Woodring, Secretary of War, is a latter, which, he implies is all right for those who like it, but he adds, "we crocheters think a man who talks is a sissy."

As to Mr. Mitchell, he raises lions for a hobby. He pulled up his trousers leg and showed the reporters some lion bites. Then he placed his fast-fingered fingers on the puffs of his pipe, a way he has, and discoursed on his art. He thinks businessmen should take up crocheting, to keep them busy and make them forget their troubles.

So it would seem. But "pearl one and drop three" somehow seems to have a disturbing suggestion of going in the red. Mayor Mitchell, however, says many men are taking up crocheting and knitting and are finding it a fascinating art. He got the idea twenty-five years ago, watching a railroad section hand crocheting during his lunch hour.

If this piece should be read by any old-timer around St. Ignace, Michigan, or Saint Ste. Marie, I wish he would let me know what became of old Captain Ryerson, big ham-fisted skipper of the Great Lakes ore boats and the Jack Dempsey of all freestyle crocheters, bar none. I am afraid he is long gone, now—one of the last of my youthful heroes.

He was ruddy, barrel-chested and profane, with a bellow like the Queen Mary's fog whistle, and he used to kick his lumbering old hog back through a hell's broth of wind and water and black night with a roaring zest nothing less than Gargantua. And then, with a stretch of salt water and his boat on an even keel, he would heave to on a lacy pattern of American Beauty roses, his favorite design. Tarry and grubby sailors in the mess room used to sit on lacy cushions done up with daisies, violets and forget-me-nots. His ship was festooned with dollies, lambskins, valances and what not, and he'd keel-haul any man who said they weren't pretty.

The skill of sailors in sewing, backstitching particularly, is an old story. There's many an old Main skipper turning to his knitting needles now that he no longer goes out in the sky's yard in a gale. King George of England is both a sailor and a knitter, swift and deft with his needles. He likes to do sweaters for his friends.

With the fashionable revival of knitting, crocheting, tatting and lace-making in England in the eighteenth century, men made the designs, many of which evolved into the basic patterns of the priceless lace pieces which are in the museums and great collections today.

Early in the last century, a rumormongered, gossipy old official of the Bank of England, a business associate of the Rothschilds, was a demon lace-maker. And to conclude these few glimpses about broussier crocheters and the like, male undergraduates of Columbia University established a knitting society a year or two ago.

Speaking of King George, there is quite a dither in the newspapers about whether Mrs. Roosevelt should curtsy to the Queen if their majesties should visit the White House next year. I thought Mrs. Roosevelt disposed of the matter nicely in her indication that she thought it a concert of no great importance and that she would be guided by State Department protocol. The Division of Protocol must, perforce weigh the issue more carefully and promises a ruling. It is hinted that the customary forms of social greeting will suffice.

When the Doty Gann incident was filling the newspapers a few years ago, it seemed a bit silly, all this ink spilled over who should precede whom and the country seemed to take it that way, vastly amused by it, on the whole. Diplomatic punctilio has grown slowly through the centuries and I have no doubt plausible reasons may be advanced for its elaborate rubric of formal behaviour on occasions of state. But, regardless of such remote matters, our social usage is essentially that of a great democratic tradition, unself-conscious and with a minimum of obscurantism.

Wise old Montaigne wrote something about that. I have been unable to find the passage I wanted and can only paraphrase it, but I remember he enjoined an easy and honest reliance on simple, courteous behaviour when meeting those of imposing, or different social antecedents. He thought that, even in Rome, it was better not to try to do as the Romans do.

We may be assured that King George VI and Queen Elizabeth will be received with seemingly decorum. Real courtesy is international, timeless, adequate and honest and not dependent on punctilio or the lack of it. We may be feeling pretty inferior these days, but that need not affect our manners when their majesties land on our shores.

From your own experience, we think you'll agree that motorists are most critical of engine performance, power and mileage when their cars are new.

Thousands of these critical new car owners, in 140 cities, were asked which gasoline they preferred on the basis of actual performance. Blue Sunoco came out 'way ahead of any other gasoline—including those selling at premium prices—and led its nearest competitor by 51.5% more votes.

Since its performance won first place among owners of new cars with high compression engines, obviously, in older cars Blue Sunoco should be equally efficient. Test it in your car and see if you don't agree.

This survey was conducted in 11 western states by an independent organization. The replies received were submitted to Lybrand, Ross Brothers and Montgomery, certified public accountants, who prepared the above tabulation therefrom.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Anniversary Is Marked In Ward

St. Margaret's Church
Marks 24th Anniversary
With Dinner On Sunday

To fittingly celebrate the 24th anniversary of the founding of St. Margaret's church in the Seventh ward, over 500 members and friends filled the church Sunday evening for a delicious anniversary dinner.

The entire menu was arranged and served by the church members. Beginning at 4:30 o'clock and continuing until 7:30 o'clock the church hall was filled as a continuous line of persons kept arriving.

An attractive part of the dinner was that the serving was all handled by the young men of the church. The "waiters" were attired in clean white serving jackets and presented a pleasing appearance.

Many friends of the congregation gathered in the church to help celebrate the anniversary. A large delegation from the church from which Rev. Father Hinnebusch was formerly pastor, motored to the city to help in the celebration.

Preparing the food for the dinner was quite a task. All of the meal was cut in various portions and distributed to the members' homes to be cooked. Just before the time for dinner a group of collectors made a tour of the homes removing the food to the steam tables at the church.

According to Father Hinnebusch, plans have already been started for a gala celebration next year. This will be the 25th anniversary of the church and the celebration is expected to top those of previous years.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Loyal Workers class of the Madison avenue Christian church will meet Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Clark, Mt. Jackson road.

Thursday, October 27 In Seventh Ward

CONTEST TO BE PART OF PROGRAM

Everything is now in readiness for the gala Hallowe'en celebration to be held in the Seventh Ward on Thursday evening, October 27. A huge parade, intended to top those of other years in size, street dancing, guessing contests and many other diversions, have been placed on the program to make this one of the best of celebrations.

According to those on the committee, all of the ward merchants are to take part in the parade. John Porter, chairman, stated today that the parade is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock from Cedar street, in the vicinity of the Mahoning junior high school.

The reviewing stand for the parade will be located near the Mahoning school building.

As a feature of the celebration, cash prizes will be given to the citizens who can select the two Miss Seventh Wards, a Mr. Seventh Ward and Mrs. Seventh Ward.

These characters will be identified only by their descriptions. Following is the description of the first Miss Seventh Ward:

According to Rev. Schnebly any member of the church or Sunday school will be welcomed on the team.

NEWS BRIEFS IN WARD DISTRICT

There is a hole in Madison avenue, just above Lafayette street, which is a bit of grief for motorists. The street has sunk considerably in this spot and needs the attention of the city street department.

Ward residents have noticed the need of a set of stop signs at the intersection of Madison avenue and North Cedar street. Many school children cross to the Mahoning school building here each day and there is no form of a traffic control device.

Although the tennis season is practically over, tennis players turned out Saturday to take advantage of the fine weather and play their last game this year.

Football season is in full swing in the ward. Every available lot is taken by a group of boys playing and practicing the popular game.

Probe Attack On Delaware Official

Group Of Men Leap From Autos And Grab Returned
Registered Letters

(International News Service)
WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 24.—Post office officials today investigated an attack on Lieutenant Governor Edward W. Cooch by a group of men who leaped from two automobiles and seized returned registered letters and affidavits from the official.

The letters were part of 4200 returned from 7,000 sent by the state Democratic committee to addresses on the registration list in an attempt to purge the rolls of "Phantom" voters. Republican State Chairman Elbe H. Chandler had attacked the plan as a conspiracy to disfranchise 7,000 voters.

In the attack outside Democratic city headquarters neither Cooch nor Democratic Ward Chairman J. Henry Lyons was injured. Alfonso A. Giordano, 21, of this city was arrested and released in $1,000 bail as alleged owner of one of the automobiles abandoned by Cooch's assistants.

Pre-Fabricated Model Home Now Open To Public

First Of Type In Lawrence County Open For Inspection
At Ellwood City

Residents of New Castle and vicinity are cordially invited to inspect the last word in pre-fabricated model homes.

The model home, the first of its type in Lawrence county, is open for inspection daily this week from 2:30 to 9 p. m. It is located in Highland Terrace at Ellwood City. Signs along the highway near Ellwood City, on the New Castle road, will guide you to the home. The model home required three weeks to build from the time the foundation was dug until the last brush of paint was put on.

More than five years in development work was spent by the Gunnison Housing Corp., Albany, Ind., before they began marketing this type of home produced by straight line mass production.

The houses are made in nine different designs with a corresponding range in price, according to size and materials used.

The various parts of the building are all standardized and can be quickly assembled, the average houses taking about three weeks to erect.

Each panel is made according to a modern engineering principle of stressed covering, which makes for great strength.

Each panel has insulation sealed within it. The interior surface of the panels are of beautiful rare hardwoods and are finished, waxed, at the factory.

The panels are equipped with steel connected plates which are bolted together as the house is assembled. All bolts and connections are invisible.

Some of the features of the house are: Hard oak floors, insulated with rock wool, all rooms paneled in beautiful genuine wabnut, mahogany and gum, same as new ship, Queen Mary; ceilings paneled in light maple, house never needs redecorating, no-draft steel type windows, additional rooms may be added.

Few Upsets Occur In College Games Saturday

(By COLLEGIAN)

The reckless abandon with which Eastern football teams are showing one another out of the undefeated class each week-end makes the Rose Bowl chances grow brighter day by day. Saturday saw the elimination of Carnegie Tech and Syracuse from possible consideration, leaving Dartmouth's Indians as the Panthers' chief opposition. Dartmouth, however, has a late November date with Stanford at Palo Alto, and it isn't likely that the New Englanders would accept a California bid even if they did finish the season with an unblemished record.

The manner in which Pittsburgh rolled over Southern Methodist by a 34-7 count on Saturday was a convincing argument that this year's Panther eleven is the best that Jock Sutherland has ever turned out. Scoring in the first two minutes of play, Pitt jumped ahead of the Mustangs 7-0. Muddy Bell's boys, unmolested, proceeded to bank over a touchdown of their own and knot the score at 7-7. The Mustangs, being strangers in those parts, were unaware that they had committed a social error that such an act against Pitt is widely regarded as leading with the chin.

The Texans didn't have to wait long to discover their mistake. Three quick touchdowns thrust by the Panthers easily took most of the fight out of the Mustangs and a fourth tally by the Sutherland reserves settled the Texas upstarts for good.

Outplayed by Carnegie Tech throughout most of the game, Notre Dame cashed in on a fourth-quarter break and nudged Tech out of the national football picture, 7-0. Although the Tartans had several scoring chances, Notre Dame flashed a stiff defense within its own 20-yard stripe and made a yard of Carnegie's heralded offensive strength. It might be added that we also missed in picking Tech to down the Irish.

Mississippi State's 12-7 triumph over Duquesne last Friday was the third major defeat for the Night Riders this season. With the Dukes hanging on to a slim 7-6 lead for three periods it appeared that the Hilltoppers would swing back into the win column. Lack of reserve strength to spell the tiring regulars in the last few minutes of the game proved fatal to the Dukes.

The plucky fortunes of Penn State's Nittany Lions drooped a little more following Saturday's 21-6 rousing at the hands of Cornell. Completely outplayed by the Big Red, State had no chance to break its fast backs into the clear. Cornell clearly dominated most of the play, and only a last-minute 45-yard pass from Chuck Peters to Harry Harrison saved the Lions from a whitewashing. Scheduled to meet Syracuse, Lafayette, Pennsylvania, and Pitt on successive week-ends, Penn State has anything but a bright future.

Youngstown College, in its first season of football, tackled a suicide schedule in dating such teams as St. Vincent, Western Reserve, John Carroll, and West Virginia. The experience gained through playing high-calibre opposition paid dividends Saturday when the Oilers dished out a 20-0 thrumping to Westminster. The victory, Youngstown's first of the year, left Westminster still trying to break into the win column.

In other district encounters Waynesburg jarred Geneva 19-0. Edinboro surprised Clarion 6-2, and W. & J. maintained its line showing by bagging Dickinson 14-6.

Kinecup took a vacation during the past week-end and instead most teams ran true to form. With upsets exploding all over the country during the first three weeks of the season, we were wary of possible surprises last Saturday. As a result, naturally, there were few upsets. That wheezing noise heard Saturday evening, then, was our batting average sagging below the .800 mark. Results of predictions made thus far into the season: right 50, wrong 14, ties 4, percentage .781.

Nathan N. Joseph Is Retired From B. & O. Service

Completes 46 Years Of Service With Railroad—Has Been Ill For Some Time

Friday, October 21, was more than the 65th birthday for Nathan N. Joseph of 417 Winter avenue. It marked the day upon which he received his retirement papers from service on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. Forty-six years of service were completed and the day was marked by a dual celebration.

Mr. Joseph started with the old P. & W. back in 1892 as a brakeman. In 1902 he was made a conductor out of Greenville, Pa., and in 1930 he was made a passenger conductor.

In March of this year he suffered a heart attack and has been forced to rest in bed. Here it was on Friday that he received his friends and neighbors, scores of postcards and many telegrams.

His friends are confident that before long he will be back on his feet, ready to enjoy the vacation he has so richly earned.

Street Lists Of Voters Are Ready

Registration Clerk, Thomas Edmunds, Prepares Data For Each District

Registration Clerk Thomas Edmunds has completed the printing of street lists of voters and they will be ready for distribution to those who desire them on Tuesday morning. Lists have been prepared for the entire 100 precincts of the county. In the city of New Castle 125 lists of each precinct were prepared; in Ellwood City 100 and in the country districts and boroughs 75.

These names had to be taken off the registration lists and written out with the party affiliation of each voter. The lists are chiefly valuable to politicians who are checking over the voters in the respective districts. The lists were printed on the county's micrographing machine. There are 9,800 separate sheets.

Ellwood High Loses To Midland High 21-6

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 24.—Any hope Ellwood City high school football fans and their loyal supporters had of title aspirations scored in the first quarter, faded in the second and were buried in the last quarter on Saturday afternoon when the Wolverines, tasting defeat for the first time this season, were power-housed by the Midland Crucibles by the decisive score of 21-6.

It was the main attraction of the day in the upper Beaver Valley and a crowd of approximately 750 sun-drenched fans came to witness the fourth of them were from Ellwood City, witnessed the game, or we should say, determined who had the ball by the yells of the crowd, as there were seating accommodations for more than 1,000 with the others lined a dozen deep about the field with no view at all of the players.

Too Much Alston
It was just a case of too much Alston. Two big sophomore (1939-40) teams take notice) brothers, Dave and Harry. This fellow Dave munched on a coach's prayer. He had everything, he could pass, punt, 51, 60, 75 yards, and add speed, deception and a shifty, slippery runner to the others and you'll have Midland's individual torpedo.

The Ellwood sons played very fine ball all the way but in the last three quarters their offensive just couldn't pierce the opponent's defense for appreciable gain. Their passes were carried backward by a high wind and the same thing happened to their punts.

Making five of their ten first downs in the first quarter and completely dominating the play in that period, the blue and white following thought the game was going to be a walk-over but the opponent's line Crubles came to life in the second quarter and any such thoughts were dispelled quickly.

Game Starts
Newton received the kick-off for Ellwood and returned it to the 33 in the first play. A fake punt by Jones was good for 9 yards and a first and ten, but in the next play Ellwood fumbled and Midland had the ball and Jones intercepted Alston pass but the locals gave up the ball on downs as did Midland a few seconds later. Jones got through the line for 28 yards before being stopped by D. Alston. Snare and Newton knifed the line for 12 more.

Snare and Jones in four attempts got around the end for 27 yards and the ball was on Midland's four. Newton added two more and then the Crucible's line held and Ellwood had to give up the ball on the Midland's two. But as D. Alston prepared to punt the whole Ellwood team headed by Lanzi and Cunningham was in the line and broke up the play and in the next play a pass from Jones to Snare was good for their lone tally and Ellwood was out in front 6-0. The try for the extra point by placement failed.

In the second quarter, just after the touchdown, Midland gave up the ball with a quick kick and the ball was on Ellwood's 15. Jones kicked from his 14 the 55 and Alston returned it to Ellwood's 22 before Piskloner stopped him and the ball was Midland's and only 8 yards further up the field, Midland failed to gain through the line in three tries and then Alston prepared to pass but found himself in the open and raced across for their first touchdown. Orlich added the extra point by the placement route.

Midland was penalized on the play and kicked from the 28. Several plays by both sides followed and staged the setting for the winner's second trip into paydirt. A 75 yard kick by Alston placed the ball on Ellwood's 19 and Jones returned it to the 40. Alston hit left guard for 7 yards. Orlich on a fake reverse added 10 and then H. Alston went through the line and scored and Orlich again divided the uprights to make the score 14-8. A 20 yard pass from Jones to Snare was good and was the period's only other feature.

Early in the third quarter, a shovel pass from Jones to Snare was good for 17 yards and the ball was on Midland 23 and then the Ellwood fans went wild as it looked as if a pass from Jones to Cunningham was good for a touchdown but the referee ruled the ball was caught out-of-bounds and a gloom as thick as a New England fog settled over the fans. A thrilling play for Ellwood cheerers was a 40-yard pass from Jones to Snare and as passing was the only way Ellwood could gain any ground they tried another only to have it intercepted by McCauley. Neither team threatened again in the third period.

As the last period got underway Ellwood had the ball and in desperation they tried pass after pass with only two being good, one from Jones to Snare for 19 yards and the other from Newton to Cunningham for 6 more. And then came an unusual play Midland punting to Ellwood's 2. Jones punted from the 2 to the Midland forty and then without a line formation D. Alston picked up the ball and kicked it back to Ellwood's 11. After a couple of Ellwood's passes were batted down, one from Jones to Cunningham was intercepted by D. Alston and then a pass from D. Alston to Paulovich was good for 8 yards and another pass by the same duel in the end zone looked good for a minute but the receiver dropped the ball. Using a little basketball, B. Alston passed to H. Alston, who lattered to D. Alston, etc., and on the last down Orlich attempted a field goal but it was not complete. And then more Ellwood passes deep in Midland territory. D. Alston intercepted another one and the stage was laid for the last touchdown which came when H. Alston passed to Vanlier and he lateraled to Micucci and the ball was good for 35 yards and the third tally. Stoffel added the extra point, to make the score 21-6 and seconds later the game ended.

In addition to Midland's one man backfield" Vandier, Connelly, and Stoffel were outstanding in the line.

All of the Ellwood team played hard, clear football and it is difficult to select individuals for extra praise. Ben Keller, acting captain, despite a badly swollen injured eye, played his usual fine game, as did his fellowlinemen. Not to mention, Frank Kolch, blocking quarter would not be fair. Few are the cheers for the blocking backs, the boys who seldom hit the ball, but who are the most valuable men in any team's backfield. The other backfield men gave their best, what more could be asked.

On next Saturday afternoon, the Wolverines will be hosts to Aliquippa at Lincoln field. Aliquippa, who is the only team to date to humble Midland, lost Saturday to Ambridge. A scoreless tie was the result of the Rochester-Beaver Falls game and New Brighton ran roughshod over Butler. Ellwood plays these two teams on successive Saturdays.

Chas. A. Carbeau Returns Home From Scout Conference

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 24.—Twelve members of the Lawrence County Boy Scout Council, including Charles A. Carbeau, president of the Ellwood City district, have returned home after attending the 18th annual meeting of Region 3 of the Boy Scout Council of America, held on Friday and Saturday at Hagerstown, Md.

Representatives attended from Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Washington, D. C., North Carolina and West Virginia.

The conference is held once each year for the purpose of bringing together men interested in youth.

John A. Siles, chief executive officer of the Canadian Council, was the speaker and his topic was "The Scouting Brotherhood." It was an unusual address and interested the members. The national chief executive, Dr. James West, attended. It was the largest conference ever held with more than 500 registered delegates.

The award given for the council traveling the most "man miles" was given to Wilkesburg. The local district won the award last year.

Herman B. Denny, Jr., of Pittsburgh, well-known to local scouts, was re-elected chairman for a period of three years.

Many ideas were garnered by the local delegates and some of them will be featured at the annual dinner to be held in Ellwood City in February, during the scout anniversary week.

Police Watch For "Petting Parties"

Petting parties in Blaine street? Must be true because the sergeant's dispatch book at police headquarters has an order as follows: "Watch cars in Blaine street; petting parties."

Last night police in cruiser cars visited the section. They also visited North Mercer street near Glenmore boulevard and Gaston park and other dark sections.

Their object was double, first to discover auto thieves and strippers and to shoot petting parties from districts where they annoyed residents with their alleged "nocturnal."
